Oswald Record Album Released

The documentary record album, "Oswald: Self Portrait in Red," is being released this week on a national basis, according to Dr. Alton Ochsner, prominent physician and president of the Information Council of the Americas (INCA).

The record features Lee Harvey Oswald's own words in a radio debate between him and Ed Butler, INCA vice-president, just 93 days prior to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Because of a limited budget, INCA was able only to produce enough records to distribute to its membership. However, in light of the recent assassination conspiracy probe, INCA feels that this material ultimately belongs to the public and thus has made the record albums available.
